“How To” Series: Keep Your Ponds Safe & Clean With Pond Tents & Netting

We Think of Leaf Netting and Tents for Leaves, but There are Other ‘To The Rescue’ Applications.

In this “How To” Series, we will share different applications and the many benefits pond netting and/or pond tents can provide.

- When to select 3/8” mesh versus 3/4” mesh
- Leaves, maple seeds and pine needles
- Blue heron protection without limiting the view
- Netting or tent sizing and set up options
- Gardens – Easy access for you, but not deer

3/8” Versus 3/4” Mesh to Protect the Pond from Leaves, Maple Seeds and Pine Needles.

- 3/8” and 3/4” refers to the gap or opening between the threads
- For larger leaves, sticks and twigs, the larger 3/4” mesh works just fine
- For smaller debris, like troublesome pine needles, you will be glad you went with 3/8” mesh

Protecting Your Fish from Blue Heron and Other Predators

All ponders would prefer to not have anything that diminishes the all-natural view of the pond and fish. However, protecting the fish from predators is sometimes a necessity. It can be done with minimal loss to the natural view!

- In the spring and summer there won’t be the added weight of leaves. The 3/4” pond netting can be stretched and staked without supports. Using our EasyPro Deluxe Pond Tent is an easy and effective alternate as well.
- Blue Heron, in particular, have an established routine, flight paths, and hunting spots. Installing netting, in time, may eliminate the pond as a hunting opportunity.
